An Introduction To The Method Of Fundamental Solutions Alexander H-d

Cheng, Ching-shyang Chen, Andreas Karageorghis, 2025-03-11 Over the past two decades the method of fundamental solutions MFS has attracted great attention and has been used extensively for the solution of scientific and engineering problems The MFS is a boundary meshless collocation method which has evolved from the boundary element method In it the approximate solution is expressed as a linear combination of fundamental solutions of the operator in the governing partial differential equation One of the main attractions of the MFS is the simplicity with which it can be applied to the solution of boundary value problems in complex geometries in two and three dimensions The method is also known by many different names in the literature such as the charge simulation method the de singularization method the virtual boundary element method etc Despite its effectiveness the original version of the MFS is confined to solving boundary value problems governed by homogeneous partial differential equations To address this limitation we introduce various types of particular solutions to extend the method to solving general inhomogeneous boundary value problems employing the method of particular solutions This book consists of two parts Part I aims to provide theoretical support for beginners In the spirit of reproducible research and to facilitate the understanding of the method and its implementation several MATLAB codes have been included in Part II This book is highly recommended for use by post graduate researchers and graduate students in scientific computing and engineering Instructor's Solutions Manual, Numerical Methods for Mathematics, Science, and Engineering John H.

Computer-Assisted Proofs for Partial Differential Equations Mitsuhiro T. Nakao, Michael Plum, Yoshitaka Watanabe, 2019-11-20 In the last decades various mathematical problems have been solved by computer assisted proofs among them the Kepler conjecture the existence of chaos the existence of the Lorenz attractor the famous four color problem and more In many cases computer assisted proofs have the remarkable advantage compared with a theoretical proof of additionally providing accurate quantitative information The authors have been working more than a quarter century to establish methods for the verified computation of solutions for partial differential equations mainly for nonlinear elliptic problems of the form $u f(x, u)$ with Dirichlet boundary conditions Here by verified computation is meant a computer assisted numerical approach for proving the existence of a solution in a close and explicit neighborhood of an approximate solution The quantitative information provided by these techniques is also significant from the viewpoint of a posteriori error estimates for approximate solutions of the concerned partial differential equations in a mathematically rigorous sense In this monograph the authors give a detailed description of the verified computations and computer assisted proofs for partial differential equations that they developed In Part I the methods mainly studied by the authors Nakao and Watanabe are presented These methods are based on a finite dimensional projection and constructive a priori error estimates for finite element approximations of the Poisson equation In Part II the computer assisted approaches via eigenvalue bounds developed by the author Plum are explained in detail The main task of this method consists of establishing eigenvalue bounds for the linearization of the corresponding nonlinear problem at the computed approximate solution Some brief remarks on other approaches are also given in Part III Each method in Parts I and II is accompanied by appropriate numerical examples that confirm the actual usefulness of the authors methods Also in some examples practical computer algorithms are supplied so that readers can easily implement the verification programs by themselves
