- Why, according to you, are all things grouped together?
- Why are substances and mixtures classified together?

What are Physical Properties?

Start with the title on the right below as shown in a notebook page because it has certain properties.

A physical property is a characteristic that can be observed without changing the identity of the substance. Several the properties of an object can be observed. For example, you can observe an object's color, shape, size, mass, etc. In general, the properties of an object are determined by the properties of the particles the object consists of.

Many of the physical properties of materials that make up objects can be measured. These properties include density, hardness, magnetism, and the ability to conduct heat and electricity.

Some physical properties depend on how much of a material you have. In other words, a large amount of a material may have different properties than a smaller amount of the material. Other physical properties do not depend on how much of the material you have. They show that no matter how large or small a sample of material is, the particular property is always the same.
