The Dynamic Structure of Everyday Life Philip Agre, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, 1988 A running argument means continually redeciding what to do Continually redeciding what to do is more flexible than executing a plan because it is more responsive to opportunities and contingencies It is possible to approximate the ideal of continual redecision because life is wholly a routine The routine portion of the reasoning leading to each moment's action can be implemented very efficiently by recording the reasons behind any novel bits of reasoning a method known as dependency maintenance A computer program called the running argument illustrates this point
